This is the best leadership program for Public Safety Officials in Colorado – bar none. Every public safety leader should take this class.

Bureau Chief Vince Line, Arapahoe County Sheriff’s Office

In today’s world, public safety needs the highest caliber leadership. Our communities and our departments deserve strong leadership, and one of the best ways I found to get my leaders the training they needed to prepare them for the challenge of the leadership task was to send them to DU’s Public Safety Leadership Course. Your leaders will come away with skills needed for this work. Your leaders will have a greater understanding of the leadership challenge; they will understand how to navigate community and organization politics; they will gain self-confidence, and they will work better as a team member. Additionally, attending this course with colleagues from surrounding jurisdictions improves cross-jurisdictional collaboration which helps everyone work better and smarter. I highly recommend the Public Safety Leadership course.

PROGRAM OVERVIEW

The program compresses the very best content and resources into five days. The sessions will be held off-site where participants will be immersed in the program. Online modules, team work, and assignments are completed between sessions, allowing participants to apply what they have learned and to return to the team with stories of success and insightful questions, further customizing the program as it progresses.

The Daniels College of Business is committed to providing relevant, life-changing educational experiences; we look forward to partnering with you to further develop extraordinary leaders within our Colorado communities.
The Daniels Public Safety Leadership program is a truly excellent way to grow your capacity as a leader. It is also a great place to grow your network in the Public Safety world of Colorado.

The Daniels Public Leadership Program has had a strong and lasting effect on the Glendale Police Department and our community. Successful completion of this program is now required for all supervisors, and those wishing to lead in our organization. I strongly recommend this program to all members of the Public Safety Community.

W.J. Haskins, Chief of Police

West Metro Fire has sent over a dozen people through the Public Safety Leadership program over the years. Every one of them comes back to West Metro Fire with a renewed sense of self-confidence, and a determination to be a better leader to their direct reports. We strongly recommend this program to all those in the Public Safety Arena.
