Scott is a Clinical Professor in the Management Department at the Daniels College of Business at the University of Denver. He teaches and consults in the areas of leadership, strategic planning/execution, marketing and global business. He is the Faculty Lead for the Leadership and Global Business courses in Daniels highly ranked Executive MBA program. He has also developed and delivered numerous customized Executive Leadership Programs for companies such as Newmont Mining, Kaiser Permanente, CenturyLink, Starz and Denver Health.

Prior to joining Daniels, Scott spent over 27 years in industry and has a diverse professional background. He held senior executive roles with two large global companies (Emerson Electric, Monsanto) and a high tech start-up. He has functional experience in General Management, Strategic Planning, Marketing, Engineering and Sales Management. Scott has extensive global experience, having lived in Singapore for 5 years and been actively involved in business and education throughout the world.

Scott does Management Consulting and Executive Coaching with organizations of all sizes in a wide range of industries. Notable clients include IBM, Emerson, Comcast, HCA, United Way, Dell, Nike, McKesson, Kaiser Permanente and Newmont Mining. Additionally, he does pro-bono/low cost consulting to several non-profit organizations and is currently the President of the Board of Directors for the Denver Children's Home.

Scott has degrees in both Mechanical Engineering and Finance from the University of Colorado at Boulder. He also completed the Advanced Management Program at INSEAD in Fontainebleau, France and the "Leaders of the 21st Century" program at the Aspen Institute.
